Even before Keetley's mining boom Mr. and Mrs. Gail Fisher lived in the area in a rambling farm house on the Fisher Ranch. When the Union Pacific Railroad came to the Keetley area in 1923 the community's future seemed secure, and Charles Roy Lenzi of Park City was hired to paint the houses and mine buildings that had been constructed around the Ontario-Daly tunnel. When the painting was completed, Mr. Lenzi decided to settle in the new area. He brought his family from Park City and settled in one of the nine houses along the ridge of the hill east of the mine building. Other homes were occupied by Archie Henderson, Will O'Brien, William Luke, Roy Pettie, Paul Hunt, William Fife, Ralph Stringham and George D. Blood. Later a house was built on the side of the road going down the ridge. Frank Hyde and later Harry Wallace, superintendent of the Park Utah Consolidated Mines, lived in this home. Another five families built homes in the canyon back of the mine building. These were Charles Welch, Al Ross, E. A. Hewitt, Robert Hyde and William Haueter. Mine buildings included an office, shops, boiler room, boarding house, commissary and two bunk houses. Later, two more bunk houses were built to accommodate the 500 to 600 men who came to the area in its boom days.

George A. Fisher, who did much of the land development in the area, supervised most of Keetley's growth. He built five modern homes, a combination store and gas station, and later an apartment house. He served as mayor of Keetley from the 1920's until his death in July, 1954. As mayor he directed the erection of an imposing school building.

Mr. Fisher, as mentioned earlier, also named the community in honor of Jack Keetley. This name created an interesting condition when postal service was inaugurated in the summer of 1923. Charles Roy Lenzi was named as postmaster and the service was very well received in the community. However, George Blood, acting superintendent of mines, discovered in the official community records that the town's name had been incorrectly recorded as "Keatley." A sign had even been placed over the post office with this incorrect spelling.

When the error was brought to the attention of the Postmaster General in Washington, he had to cancel the appointment of Charles Lenzi as postmaster, then recorded the name correctly and reappointed Mr. Lenzi as postmaster. This was done in November, 1923. Mr. Lenzi served continuously as Keetley's postmaster until 1952 when he retired and the post office was discontinued.

Charles Roy Lenzi, postmaster of Keetley from 1923 to 1952, and Lettie Lenzi, his wife and assistant postmaster.

SAMUEL AND MARY REID
LINDSAY

Samuel Lindsay was born March 3, 1851, in Lanacshire, Scotland, to William and Christinia Howe Lindsay. He was fifth in a family of nine.

His father was killed in a mine accident in 1861.

In the spring of 1862 his widowed mother and family of eight made plans to come to Utah. They left Kilmarnock on April 19, 1862, and sailed from Liverpool April 22, landing in New York on June 4. They traveled on to Florence, Nebraska, where they waited for ox teams to take them to Utah, arriving in Heber on September 21, 1862.

Mary Reid was born October 23, 1851, in Glasgow Ayr, Scotland, to James and Elizabeth Cummings Reid. She was the third child in a family of nine. Her parents and four children left Scotland for America in 1856, crossing the plains with the James G. Willie handcart company. They arrived in Salt Lake on November 9, 1856, after enduring many hardships and suffering from exposure. Mary, a child of five years, walked all the way.

They moved to Heber Valley in the fall of 1862 and later were called to help settle Cache Valley.

Mary returned to Heber and worked for various people, doing general housework.

Samuel Lindsay and Mary Reid were married December 31, 1871, in Heber. To that union were born the following children: William C., James Reid, Margaret and Georgina. They homesteaded a plot in Center Creek. Samuel worked part-time in the mines in Park City to earn the necessary means to provide for his family and while there, in 1880 he contracted an illness which caused his sudden death on July 27, 1880.

The same pioneer faith and determination that helped them cross the plains made it possible for Mary to carry on now in her time of grief. With the help of her children, she made a brave struggle, with no complaint and with a grateful heart for any kindness shown her by friends and relatives.

was 14. With his mother and seven brothers and sisters, they left Scotland and sailed for Zion, arriving in Heber on September 21, 1862. He accepted a job on a farm, receiving $100 a year, payable in grain, to help feed the family. He later acquired an ox team and heavy wagon, and hauled coal from Silver Creek to Salt Lake to help the family. In 1866 he joined the territorial militia, as the Black Hawks were on the war path, for which service he in later years received a pension. To be able to do this he led an oxen team laden with produce to Salt Lake to buy guns for he and his brothers to use.

In the fall of 1867 he was one of three men chosen to go from Heber to haul granite blocks from Little Cottonwood Canyon to Salt Lake to build the Temple. In 1868 he drove an ox team and wagon in a caravan that brought immigrants from the Platte River to Salt Lake City. On December 15, 1868, he married Mary Mair, in the Endowment House in Salt Lake. It took two days to make the trip with oxen. His brother Robert and his sweetheart, Sarah Ann Murdock, went along and they were married the same day. Their mother accompanied them. While in the city they bought 100 pounds of flour for $10, two straight chairs, a small rocker, one brass kettle of molasses, a few other needed things, and started home. But one of the oxen became lame and Mary had to take turns prodding it along behind the sleigh. Their first home was built of logs, a cellar with sandstone wall and floor, on the corner of Third East and First North, where Lowe Ashton now lives. Mary was a fine homemaker. She had worked in homes where she learned the fundamentals of cooking, nursing, sewing, etc. She was kind and cheerful, as was her husband, and they got along fine, each working to help make life a successful, happy adventure.

William entered a homestead on Lake Creek in 1876, taking their three little ones. They worked hard grubbing sagebrush to clear the land, build ditches for water, and all that goes to make a good farm. A seven-room farmhouse took the place of the first log cabin, and in 1876 William walked to Salt Lake to file for his citizenship papers. Although he was not privileged to obtain an education, he studied and did what he could to help himself. Being anxious to help others, he held a night school in his own home. He was an exceptionally fine penman and speller, loved poetry, and delighted his family and friends with his own compositions. Among his poems is "Lovely Provo Valley." He also wrote many family histories for friends. He held many responsible positions in his Church and was very public-minded, being happy to be among those who would donate to public buildings and worthwhile projects. He was 58 years old when he moved his family from the farm to a house he owned in Heber, and went to England on a two-year mission. He visited relatives in Scotland before his return in 1907.

He was a good, honest, and kind man, being respected by all who knew him. He was 86 years old when he died, May 14, 1932.

His good wife Mary was born July 31, 1852, at Gaswater, Scotland. She came with her mother and brothers, Andrew and Alexander Mair, to Heber in 1864. They had a long, hard journey and she had mountain fever several weeks. However, with good food and care she soon mended after her arrival here.

Although their farm was three miles east of Heber, on the east side of Lindsay's Hill, they seldom were tardy or missed their meetings. She served in many Church capacities. A good cook, she made many fancily decorated three-tiered wedding cakes for people. Her services among the sick were unlimited until her health broke down. She was the daughter of Allan and Mary Murdoch Mair, and died June 3, 1916, at the age of 63. Yet she had lived a rich, full life of service cheerfully given. Their children were: Mary M. (Mamie Lindsay), William Howie, James Lyon, John Allan, Andrew Alexander, Crissie, David Pryde, and Annie.

Three children died in their youth.

WILLIAM AND MARY MAIR LINDSAY

William Lindsay was born February 11, 1847, in Scotland. He was still in his ninth year when he went to the coal mine to assist his father and brother Robert. He remembers never seeing the sun in winter, except on Sunday, and of his mother waking them to get them off to the mine, with tears in her eyes because of their youth and the hard work required. The mine law said a boy must be 10 years old to be employed. One day the boss came into the mine and, seeing William, he asked if he was 10. William said he was not quite. The boss asked him to spell Carmelbank, which he did. He also gave him a book to read, which satisfied him as he said, "You are a clever boy and deserve a shilling." This was the first money he had ever been given and was proud of it. He had lost the sight of his right eye when two years old. His father was killed in the coal mine when he

They worked hard grubbing sagebrush to clear the land, build ditches for water, and all that goes to make a good farm. A seven-room farmhouse took the place of the first log cabin, and in 1876 William walked to Salt Lake to file for his citizenship papers. Although he was not privileged to obtain an education, he studied and did what he could to help himself. Being anxious to help others, he held a night school in his own home. He was an exceptionally fine penman and speller, loved poetry, and delighted his family and friends with his own compositions. Among his poems is "Lovely Provo Valley." He also wrote many family histories for friends. He held many responsible positions in his Church and was very public-minded, being happy to be among those who would donate to public buildings and worthwhile projects. He was 58 years old when he moved his family from the farm to a house he owned in Heber, and went to England on a two-year mission. He visited relatives in Scotland before his return in 1907.

He was a good, honest, and kind man, being respected by all who knew him. He was 86 years old when he died, May 14, 1932.

His good wife Mary was born July 31, 1852, at Gaswater, Scotland. She came with her mother and brothers, Andrew and Alexander Mair, to Heber in 1864. They had a long, hard journey and she had mountain fever several weeks. However, with good food and care she soon mended after her arrival here.

Although their farm was three miles east of Heber, on the east side of Lindsay's Hill, they seldom were tardy or missed their meetings. She served in many Church capacities. A good cook, she made many fancily decorated three-tiered wedding cakes for people. Her services among the sick were unlimited until her health broke down. She was the daughter of Allan and Mary Murdoch Mair, and died June 3, 1916, at the age of 63. Yet she had lived a rich, full life of service cheerfully given. Their children were: Mary M. (Mamie Lindsay), William Howie, James Lyon, John Allan, Andrew Alexander, Crissie, David Pryde, and Annie.

WILLIAM AND MARY
MAIR LINDSAY

William Lindsay was born February 11, 1847, in Scotland. He was still in his ninth year when he went to the coal mine to assist his father and brother Robert. He remembers never seeing the sun in winter, except on Sunday, and of his mother wakening them to get them off to the mine, with tears in her eyes because of their youth and the hard work required. The mine law said a boy must be 10 years old to be employed. One day the boss came into the mine and, seeing William, he asked if he was 10. William said he was not quite. The boss asked him to spell Carmelbank, which he did. He also gave him a book to read, which satisfied him as he said, "You are a clever boy and deserve a shilling." This was the first money he had ever been given and was proud of it. He had lost the sight of his right eye when two years old. His father was killed in the coal mine when he was 14. With his mother and seven brothers and sisters, they left Scotland and sailed for Zion, arriving in Heber on September 21, 1862. He accepted a job on a farm, receiving $100 a year, payable in grain, to help feed the family. He later acquired an ox team and heavy wagon, and hauled coal from Silver Creek to Salt Lake to help the family. In 1866 he joined the territorial militia, as the Black Hawks were on the war path, for which service he in later years received a pension. To be able to do this he led an oxen team laden with produce to Salt Lake to buy guns for he and his brothers to use.

In the fall of 1867 he was one of three men chosen to go from Heber to haul granite blocks from Little Cottonwood Canyon to Salt Lake to build the Temple. In 1868 he drove an ox team and wagon in a caravan that brought immigrants from the Platte River to Salt Lake City. On December 15, 1868, he married Mary Mair, in the Endowment House in Salt Lake. It took two days to make the trip with oxen. His brother Robert and his sweetheart, Sarah Ann Murdock, went along and they were married the same day. Their mother accompanied them. While in the city they bought 100 pounds of flour for $10, two straight chairs, a small rocker, one brass kettle of molasses, a few other needed things, and started home. But one of the oxen became lame and Mary had to take turns prodding it along behind the sleigh. Their first home was built of logs, a cellar with sandstone wall and floor, on the corner of Third East and First North, where Lowe Ashton now lives. Mary was a fine homemaker. She had worked in homes where she learned the fundamentals of cooking, nursing, sewing, etc. She was kind and cheerful, as was her husband, and they got along fine, each working to help make life a successful, happy adventure.

William entered a homestead on Lake Creek in 1876, taking their three little ones. ## WILLIAM HOWIE LINDSAY AND MARGARET ELINOR THOMAS LINDSAY

William Howie Lindsay was the eldest son of William and Mary Mair Lindsay, being born October 24, 1871, at Heber, Utah.

BEAUTIFUL UPON THE MOUNTAINS

When he was six years old they moved to a homestead three miles east of Heber, and in a log house the parents and four children had a very happy home.

Much time was spent grubbing sagebrush from the land and his job was to help gather and burn it and herd the cows.

His schooling was rather meager, because of the distance, the deep winter snows and the very bad roads in the spring. He did make enough progress that he attended Wasatch Academy at Heber. Enoch Jorgensen was the instructor.

When his brothers were old enough to help his father on the farm he went to Park City to work in the mines. He attended Church and sang in the choir. He renewed his acquaintance with Margaret Eleanor Thomas, a friendship which began in Heber. She was the daughter of Joseph and Margaret Watson Thomas, and Nellie, as she was lovingly called, was the first baby born at Center on January 9, 1877. She had lost two brothers in their early life and when she was nine years old, she, four sisters and four brothers were left orphans, as their parents died two weeks apart of pneumonia. She went to live in a home at Heber and to go to school.

She caught some lice and the lady with whom she lived cut off her lovely red hair which had given her the name of "Carrot Top." When a young lady working for some friends in Park City, she had typhoid fever and lost all her hair, it came in a beautiful auburn shade to match her lovely soft brown eyes.

She and William H. Lindsay, James L. Lindsay and his sweetheart, Elizabeth Jones, all life-long friends, went to Salt Lake and were married by John R. Winder on July 31, 1895. On their return a lovely wedding reception was given in their honor at Pride's

HEBER BIOGRAPHIES

Hall at Center, a hot dinner and dancing in the evening.

Their first child, Martin S., was born in Park City. He saved money and the next year bought a farm at the foot of Lindsay Hill, near Heber. He began to buy sheep, knowing that it was a paying proposition. Their second son, Dawson, was born there, also Sarah Elizabeth and William Harold. They moved to Heber so the children would be near school. He was away with the sheep often, but he continued to buy sheep until he had a paying herd. It made work for him and his sons. He spent thousands of dollars buying land from the government for spring and fall range, and the family spent their summers at the ranch at Currant Creek to be near the sheep.

They were happy and proud to send Dawson on a two-year mission for the LDS Church. He loved to have his children and grandchildren with him. He was a successful business man. He was kind, considerate and wanted to be of service to his fellow men, always willing to help anyone in need and honest in his dealings. He was the father of 11 children. His health was quite good and even though prosperous, he still managed his own business and was very active until his death from a heart attack on June 27, 1939, at his home.

His good wife carried on. She was a fine manager and knew how to handle the business, with the help of her sons. Hers was a rich, full life, and she was always busy helping others when not doing for herself. Her family loved to come home to be with her, for she kept herself and others happy with her lovely handwork. She had been a Relief Society visiting teacher.

She died May 5, 1958, at Heber.

Charles Leo Luke

Charles Leo Luke, our beloved husband, father, grandfather, great-grandfather, and brother, died July 3, 1992 at the Wasatch County Hospital at age 75.

Born June 11, 1917 in Midway, the second of seven sons, to Charles Franklin and Cordelia Shelton Luke. Married Stella Hair, Oct. 25, 1939 in Salt Lake City. Marriage later solemnized in Salt Lake Temple. Worked in the mines until 1952 when he went to work for Midway City. He also, ran a small dairy farm during these years. Retired as superintendent of Midway City in 1982 after 30 years of service to this community that he loved. He also served four years on the city council. During his time with Midway City, he was honored as Midway "Citizen of The Year" in 1963.

In 1965, the following article appeared in Dan Valentine's column in The Salt Lake Tribune: "Today's Valentine: An extra special valentine today to a man who must be the busiest public servant in the State of Utah. He is Mr. Leo Luke...he lives in Midway, Wasatch County...and he is the town marshall, the town watermaster, the community sanitation engineer, the town sexton...and custodian of the Midway Town Hall. He's always on the job, night and day, seven days a week. Many a day he gets up at 3 a.m. to thaw out a frozen water line...or get some dogs out of a sheep herd...or to quiet some community disturbance.

And, he keeps the Midway Town Hall spotless (the best-kept Town Hall in the state)...it always looks spic and span and inviting for all the community meetings...A fine neighbor, a wonderful citizen, and top community official...and a Valentine to you, sir."

This is how the townspeople felt about Leo. He was never too busy to stop and lend a hand to widows or anyone in need. The Town of Midway will miss Leo Luke.

At the time of his death, he was an active High Priest in the Midway Fourth Ward and a Provo Temple worker.

Survived by wife, Stella, of Midway; children: Joan and Bob Radmall, Midway; Mary Jane and Wade Wood, Grantsville; Kathleen and Jack Boswell, Mapleton; 13 grandchildren, 3 great-grandchildren, brothers: Ray H. ANDREW AND BRITA
NILSSON LUNDIN

Andrew E. Lundin was born in Sweden March 23, 1837, a son of John Olopson (Johnson) Lundin. He married Brita Nilsson in Sweden. Andrew died in Midway October 26, 1917.

Brita Nilsson was born in Sweden September 19, 1838, a daughter of Anders and Brita Gunarson Nilsson. She died at Midway May 11, 1916.

Andrew was born in northern Sweden, and was employed as a traveling salesman for men's clothing. He met his wife during his business travels.

Successful in his sales work, Andrew was able to save enough money to pay his family's fare to America, and also pay for two other families to come with them.

After coming to America, Andrew settled in Heber City in 1873 and then three years later moved to Park City where he began prospecting in the mountains. He discovered many claims and was able to sell them for good prices. His greatest discovery was what is now known as the Silver King Mine. Through his lack of knowledge of American courts and the ways of dishonest men, this rich discovery was taken away from him. However, he did receive enough from it to buy a choice piece of property in Midway in 1893 from Anna Moser.

Being a very industrious man, Andrew started many work projects on his new property. He hired many of the residents of Midway to help him. He cleared many acres of sagebrush and oak, leveled the high places on his farm and planted many acres of grain. He planted a lovely orchard against the mountain and drained swamps. He erected a large water wheel to furnish power for chopping grain and doing many other farm tasks. He built a small red brick home and then later a larger one. He also built a large swimming pool to take advantage of the warm springs that dotted his property.

In 1899 Andrew deeded his property to his son John, reserving the land where the little brick house stood. He lived there until his death.

Children of Andrew and Brita Lundin were:

Mrs. John (Betsy) Anderson;
Mrs. Anton (Anna M.) Anderson;
John N. Lundin, married Emma Durtschi;
Andrew Lundin, died at the age of two.

Andrew and Brita also reared the family of Peter Johnson, one of the families they brought to America, after both parents died. These children were:
